DO NOT FORGET

That when any article by its own merits has acquired public confidence and patronage it is at once imitated, and the greater *he sale of the genuine article the more the mitations.

Take, for instance, the host of so-called porous plasters; every one of them is endeavoring to trade on the reputation of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER. The only safe way for purchasers is to insist on having the genuine article, and not allow themselves to be swindled by having plasters said to be "fust as good," or "containing superior ingredients," imposed upon them. These are only tricks to sell inferior goods that no more compare with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER than copper does with gold. One trial of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER will convince you that it is the best external remedy ever made. It cores without causing blisters, abrasions of skin, or the slightest inconvenience.

OPINION OF DR. MOTT, LATE GOVERN-

ALLCCCE'S POROUS PLASTER. My levestigation of AllCock's Ponous PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster. These ingredients are so perfectly proportioned that the ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER will not cause blisters or excessive irritation, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster. Will you allow me the use of your col-umns to say a few words on the pastoral of Bishop Whittle published in to-day's paper? In this pastoral the worthy and esteemed Bishop says: "Perhaps one rea-son why our efforts to spread the gospel are not more largely blessed of God may be the fact that we have done so little for the conversion of His ancient people, to whom we are indebted, and in whom we ought to feel more interested than in any people in the world."

I would respectfully invite the worthy I would respectfully invite the worthy come in contact, but that is not here the It appears that there was some mistake ceed in converting to Christianity.

The Israelite is taught from his infancy to believe that God is a pure unity not composed of persons or parts; that He is a purely spiritual being, and that it is impossible for Him or any part of Him ever to assume human form or likeness. The Israelite is taught to believe that every human being is created in the image

Redeemer, but in an ever-living Re-

The Israelite does not believe that man is born in sin because nearly six thousand years ago Adam and Eve did an act which he condemns, nor does he believe that he is culpable because nearly two thousand years ago the ignorant and unenlightened portion of his ancestors clamored for the death of Jesus, an act which he likewise denounces and strongly condemns. The educated Israelite does not ignore the world-wide influence of Christianity; he feels proud of belonging to a race whose religion was the mother of Christianity. and whose sublime moral code Christianity reproduced. A few years ago a great sensation was caused in England by an article on the Talmud from the pen of Dr. Deutsch. The author showed therein that the advanced moral ideas of the New Testament are to be found in the post-Biblical writings of the Hebrews. The Christian believes "thou shalt love the Eternal thy God with all thy beart, with all thy soul, and thy fellow-man The Christian believes in reward and punishment here and hereafter, and so does the Israelite; but the Israelite does not attempt to define them. He leaves them as things hidden from us, in the hands of an all-loving Father. The Christian believes God is love, and so does the Israelite. The Israelite does not believe in eternal punishment, nor does he believe in a hell. To his mind a God of love and hell are incompatible ideas. The Israelite believes that the good, and virtuous, and pious of all creeds, are heirs of eternal life. Six centuries ago, Maemon-ides, in his great work on the teachings of Judaism, used the following words:

"Every man whom reason and knowedge bring near to God, no matter under what name he serve Him, so that only he reverence and worship Him, so that only he regulate his life according to God's will, as far as he knows how, is holy in the highest sense of the word. I believe that "in my Father's bouse there are many mansions"—a mansion for the good Catholic; a mansion for the good Protestant, no matter what his sect; a mansion for the good heathen who groped after light as best he knew how; a mansion for the good Israelite, even if unconstructed. There is a movement on foot, which has the support of some Democrats, looking to the retention of Dr. Ferguson (colored) as one of the assistant superintendents of the Central Asylum.

At the call of his Excellency Governor William E. Cameron, president of the Board, the Board of Public Works met in the Governor's office yesterday afternoon. The game was called at 4:30, the Philadelphias at the bat. Notwithstanding the chilly wind, quite a large crowd, with many ladies, assembled, there being a general desire to see Ferguson pitching against his old colleagues; but in this they were disappointed, as Ingram pitched instead of Ferguson, with Allen as catcher.

The game commenced with great excitement, Ferguson, of the Philadelphias, scoring one run in the first inning, the Virginias being blanked.
